

Pest Control

It's the stuff the professionals use!

Day and night, vertebrate

pests work away at spoiling property.

They carry disease to livestock, ruin crops and threaten the health of humans and native wildlife. Australia

Follow these basic tips when carrying out your pest control programme to ensure you get maximum benefit:

- Choose the right product for the job and seek advice if required.
- Anticipate the problem rather than reacting to it.
- Expose all of the pests to the control measure at the same time and remove all other food options
- Follow label directions. This will improve results and minimise the risk to non-target animals.
- Replenish baits when they are consumed by pests and offer a generous amount of bait.
- Manage pest immigration by establishing and maintaining control buffer zones.
- Also use bait stations to ensure bait remains fresh and dry plus prevents access by non target species
